NEW RATE COAL ON WAY TO BOSTON

Concurrent with the establishment today of the new through rate schedule by the Interstate Commerce Commission, 5,000 tons of low volatile soft coal in 115 cars, started for New England points from the West Virginia mines of the White Oak Company of Boston.

According to Fuel Commissioner
Eugene C. Hultman, the coal destined for Boston is a duties, smoking variety in lump, egg and nut sizes.
Under the old rate schedule each load fixed its own schedule. The rates in the commissioner's schedule are uniform.

SUB BASE TOLD OF $51 CRASH 4 HOURS LATER

With the $46 crashing in the vicinity and the submarine base only seven miles away, naval officials did not learn of the $51 disaster for nearly four hours after it happened, according to testimony before the court of inquiry at Charleston
Naval Yard today.
This testimony was given by Lieutenant-Commander J. A. Brownell, commander of division 1 of the United States control fleet. The investigation called by Lieutenant-Commander Charles A. Lockwood, the Judge Advocate General.

Although the submarine was rammed by the steamer City of Rome at 10:30 p. m. Friday, Lieutenant-Commander Brownell said the incident was later proved incorrect.
Lieutenant-Commander Brownell testified.

In a precise, matter-of-fact manner he described the tremendous activities that ensued at the base when submarine after submarine was sent to the scene.

Play By Play

FIRST INNING
Senators—Rice singled, S. Harris led to Barnhart. Rice took second on a wild pitch. Goslin walked. Aldridge with pitch put Rice on third and Goslin on second. J. Harris walked, forcing Rice. Bludge singled, forcing Goslin. Aldridge taken out for Morrison now playing. Peck hit to Wright, who forced Bludge at second, but Umpire McCormick ruled that Smith interfered with Peck and declared Bludge safe as well as Peck. Joe Harris scoring on the play. Ruel safe on Moore's error.
Judge scoring. Johnson struck out.
Ruel bled to Barnhart. FOUR RUNS.

PIRATES—Moore was tossed out by Johnson. Carey doubled. Cuyler fanned. Barnhart fanned. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

Senators—S. Harris filed to Cuyler. Goslin filed to Carey. J.
Harris out. Wright to McInnis. NO
RUNS.

PIRATES—Traynor out. Johnson to Judge. Wright singled. McInnis singled. Wright stopping at second.
Smith hit to S. Harris who tagged McInnis on the line and then got Smith at first. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

Senators—Judge singled. Bludge popped to Moore. Cuyler made a great catch of Peck's fly but threw wild trying to double Judge at first and Judge went to second. Ruel led to Carey. NO RUNS.

PIRATES—Morrison singled. Moore doubled. Morrison scoring. Carey

BOY, 3, DOG LOST ALL

NIGHT IN MOUNTAIN PEAKS

Ashtand, N. H., Oct. 15.—Soaked by the night rain, bedraggled, incredibly chilly, but with their arms hugged courageously around his dog, thirteen-year-old Bobby Case was found at dawn today on a ledge of the Devil's Den, after being lost 18 hours on Bridgewater Mountain.

Little Bobby Case, gathering wood with the collie, Floada, and his grandfather, John L. Morrison, disappeared with the dog.

Believing that the youngster had bedraggled home, Morrison, completing his task, went home alone. But Bobby was not there and a frantic search began.

CUYLER'S DOUBLE IN 8TH WINS BATTLE

Pittsburgh, Oct. 15.—In the thick of the murk over Pirate town tonight the Jolly Roger waves triumphant, for the bold Buccaners of Pittsburgh downed the Senators from Washington today in the seventh and final contest of the World Series, becoming champions of the baseball universe.

The final score of today's game was Pirates, 9; Senators, 7.

The game was the most sensational of the series,
the lead exchanging hands many times.

After Traynor had tied the score at six all in the seventh, Peckinpough gave the lead back to the Senators with a homer in the eighth.

The Pirates were not to be denied, however, and won the game in the eighth on doubles by Smith and Bigbee, a walk to Moore, a punt by Carey and Cuyler's double.

Walter Johnson tried for his third victory in the series but was shooed all over the lot by the Pirates.

The Pittsburgh hurlers were little better.
Vic Aldridge, like Johnson, essayed to win his third triplet. In the classic, but was unequal to task. After he had allowed two runs on two singles and three passes in the first inning he was yanked and Johnny (Red) Morrison succeeded him.

It rained almost continually during the game.
The sensation jumped away with the Pirates.

Alexander led in the first inning.
Aldridge was wild as a March hare and off. Rice had strided the big Pirates' hurler checked on wildly diverging. Stum to take second. He had jammed Goslin. J. Harris and Bludge. Covering over a run. Bludge singled, scoring Goslin and Aldridge.
Morrison then struck out and the
Pirates were back to back.

Peck hit to Wright, who forced Bludge at second, but Umpire Mac-Cormick ruled that Smith interfered with Peck and declared Bludge safe as well as Peck. Joe Harris scoring in the play. Ruel was safe on Bludge's error and Judge scored.
Morrison then struck out and the
Pirates were back to back.

Then, just all but tied the score in the third, Morrison, first up, singled and scored on Moore's double.
Bobby's single scored Moore and Bludge promptly stole third and scored Peckinpough's single. With one gone Bludge and Wright were away in the sixth.

With one gone in the fourth the Senators counted twice more on singles by Rice and Goslin and J. Harris.

was furnished with a skeleton crew and rushed to the scene.

The witness told how his own ship, the B-1, was the first submarine to arrive and described the finding of a patch of sunken-looking oil on the surface for a mile over the water.

While the inquiry was scheduled to require five days, Lieutenant-Commander Charles A. Lockwood, the judge advocate, estimated that it would be ten days before it was ended.

The court was authorized by Secretary Willoughby to whom the findings and recommendations will be made, shortly after the submarine was rammed by the City of Rome off Block Island, carrying 34 men to the bottom.

Captain Orton P. Jackson of the Newport Training Station is president of the court. The other members are Captain Walter M. Hunt, manager of the Portsmouth Navy Yard; Captain David A. Weaver, assistant manager of the Portsmouth Navy Yard, and Lieutenant-Commander Lockwood, judge advocate of the First Naval District.

ONLY PRESS ADMITTED

Witnesses to be heard include officers from the submarine base at New London, officers, crew and passengers of the City of Rome, survivors of the B-1 and divers who worked on the sunken vessel.

Among those to be called were Lieutenant-Commander M. J. Lantry, captain of the B-66, which sighted the B-1 on the day of the night as it went down and was in communication with her at 2:30 p. m., and Lieutenant Paul M. Fisher, commander of the B-66.

location officer at the submarine base at New London.

Attorney Earle Parwell, counsel for the Oceanic Navigation Company, owners of the City of Rome, was granted permission to cross-examine witnesses at any time he desires.

After a conference the hearing was thrown open to the press, but not to the public, because of insufficient room in the office to accommodate the crowd.

Judges W. R. Bowler, assistant to the secretary of Commerce of the United States, was present "to observe and report to his superior."

Edwin R. McCormick, assistant U. S. Attorney General, was also present.

The first witness called was Lieutenant-Commander Bowler, who is in command of the submarine fleet of which the wrecked B-61 was a unit.

Bowler, asked by Judge Advocate Lockwood as to 8:51 orders on September 23, said:

"The orders of the Navy Department require submarine to conduct what is known as an availability trial. Orders were given that the B-1 and the B-66 conduct an availability trial together. This trial consists of a run on the surface, locally at discretion of the commander, and also a submerged run of three hours. The surface run is twelve hours. The object is to keep both boats in the zone B-66 and B-61 in different areas while submerged."

Q—Will you describe to the court the area in which the B-1 was to be submerged? A—One of the submerged areas was in the vicinity of the base at New London, known as Area A.

One of the submarines was to remain north of Cerberus Shoals, the other south. B-66 was to remain north, and B-61 south, he explained.

Q—Does this area include any waters seaward of Block Island?

A—No, sir.

Q—Will you state in substance the report of the B-61? A—The report was that she began lost at 8:58 p. m., September 23.

Q—Did you receive at the submarine base any subsequent report of the movement of the B-61? A—No, but the two submarines, B-66 and B-61, had made an agreement before leaving to communicate with each other, one between 8 and 9 p. m. the evening, again at midnight and again between 6:30 and 6:30 p. m. the morning.

Continuing Bowler stated:

"They were in communication at 8:30 of the night of September 23. The schedule of the run, beginning at 8:30 p. m., was to run until 1:30 a. m. Saturday morning and then submerge. Therefore the dive was to come after daylight in the morning."

"It is on the log of the B-66 that the B-61 gave her position as five miles off Block Island at 8:58 p. m. After that there was no further communication between the two submarines of which I have no knowledge."

GOY WRONG POSITION.

Q—Did you receive on the way in question any report from other sources? A—At 1:34 a. m., September 24, a message was received on the telephone at the submarine base by way of Western Union, stating that the B-61 was rammed and sunk.

It also gave the location of the scene of the collision in the following words: "Three-quarters of a mile north of Block Island south of Cerberus Shoals."

TAUNTON GIRL HELD AFTER MAN IS SHOT

Annie Morris, 17, was enraged when she heard a rumor that Argires Argires, whom she charges is the father of her unborn child, was preparing to leave Taunton. She traced him to a hotel and is alleged to have fired twice, one bullet hitting him in the arm and the other in the leg. He will recover and Annie will face District Court today.

last night; fourteen miles east of Block Island southwest light." The police was afterwards proved to be correct.

Q—State, briefly what action you took upon receiving the message. A—The officer in command of the base, Lieutenant-Commander Bowler, and his assistant and all other officers and enlisted personnel at the base who could be reached were notified.

Continuing, Lieutenant-Commander Bowler testified:

"They came to the base as rapidly as possible. As soon as each submarine had the minimum necessary crew it shoved off and on its way to the scene. I left on the B-1 about 4:30 a. m. The B-61 arrived at the reported scene about 8:30 a. m., the only ship there then being the Destroyer Putnam."

SAW OIL ON WATER.

"It was agreed that the Putnam should cruise to the east, the B-1 to the west. The Putnam reported it had picked up two life preservers, afterwards identified as not belonging to the B-1."

"The B-66 arrived, twenty minutes later, the B-61 three-quarters of an hour later, and the B-66 an hour and a half to two hours later."

"The B-1, on which I was, proceeded about half a mile from the reported position in a westerly direction when it came across a large area with all speed directly over the surface of the water."

FOUND BY FLIER.

"We were cruising slowly in this area, to find where oil was thick and when an airplane arrived and came down close to the water. It landed and a man went out on the wing, looked into the water and signaled over to us that he saw air bubbles."

"The B-1 went over and immediately discerned two streams of air bubbles, twenty or thirty feet apart, about the size that a diver leaves when he goes down."

"The B-1 anchored between the two streams of bubbles and sent a message to the commander of the submarine base."

"At this time all of the submarines in the scene were ordered to use their listening gear to listen for signals from the crew of the sunken submarine if they were alive and sending out word for help."

"All were ordered to keep perfectly quiet and even to stop their blimp pumps."

DIVERS CAME AT NOON.

"Now a sound was heard from beneath the waves."

"About noon a boat with divers ready for instant action and diving equipment, arrived from Newport Torpedo Base and Naval Base. It anchored over the bubbles and sent a diver down."

"The diver, the first to go down, verified positively that it was the B-61."

"The diver tapped on the hatch and hull, trying to get a message through to the crew in the sunken boat, but he got no response from within."

"At 12:30 the U. S. S. Condor arrived and we were notified that Rear Admiral Chubbard had his flagship come from there in complete charge."

was going to be sent through, come what may—if anything.

Despite opposition of many candidates to the plan, the city held asserted that even now no preferential ballots are being prepared for mailing to the 8,000 registered Democrats out of the estimated 10,000 Democrats in the city.

IN MAILS TOMORROW.

What will be the last of the ballots will be in the mails going forward to the "straw voters" by midnight tomorrow.

The Mayor is going to get that candidate elected out if he had to get it to do it.

The ballots will be in the voters' hands by the afternoon. Mayor Curley figures that even the most prevaricating Democrat can't return his preferential vote within the four days grace ensuing.

Arrangements have been made with Postmaster Baker to hold up all the returned ballots until 11 a. m. October 22, when they will be sent on trains, as it were, to Fall River under adequate protection.

Each candidate will be invited to the Mayor's office to inspect the ballots for the counting, and the public is invited to sit in the galleries where the public usually does sit.

PUBLIC TO SEE COUNT.

The votes will be counted, according to the Mayor, by a committee of one representative from each Boston newspaper and the result will be announced.

"When the vote result is announced," said the Mayor, "that will give those who are out of the running the chance to save their self-respect, if not their money—or both."

"There are 51,000 registered Democrats. Supporting we get back 30,000 ballots. All you need to do is multiply that by the vote any one candidate gets and you will know what he can expect to get from the Democratic voters."

That's how simple it is and to prove that the peak is not reached, he said, that he knows are all rolled up, the Mayor smiled innocently when asked who would lose.

"Oh, some leading Democrats," he said, "but they are becoming more and more exclusive."

A letter that will accompany the preferential ballots to the voters, written by the Mayor himself in a new role, said, after being boiled away, was down.

"The purpose of the preferential ballot was based on a desire to afford the representatives of the majority party of Boston an opportunity to determine who in their judgment was most desirable as a candidate for the office of Mayor."

"It is clearly the duty of the Democratic voters to vote in favor of the candidate and the only way in which it may be determined which is the strongest."

SIR PHILIP GIBBS, well-versed correspondent, in the big war, worrying about his native Britain, asks, "Is England done?" It's a brilliant question, which one hesitates to put down in black and white."

He puts it down, because truth is mighty, and must not be squelched. Lack of work and the public "dole" have brought England close to face with revolution, he thinks, and worse for England.

BUT HE NEED NOT. England is not "done," or half done, for various reasons. She possesses statements, that concentrate their lives, from boyhood, to the service of their country, educated and trained for the war before them.

She understands dealing with subject nations, and lets them alone, allowing them to live their lives, and she checks child marriage and burning widows alive in India, and forbids the prosperous Egyptians to treat the miserable low class cruelty and unjustly. But the natives do, generally, as they choose.

NOT BLESSED with our Coning to England, England lives up to several parts of it, as we do not. Who takes free speech seriously. You may SAY what you please in England. If you do anything, they stop you.

Here, we about, stab, hold-up, booting, black, and break the prohibition law into a million pieces. And nobody stops it. But if Eugene Debs, or Bakelara imagine, he can SAY what he pleases here he does not know us.

England is not "DONE," because England is a democracy.

ROCK MEN'S stocks are doing very well. Prices are high, and they are becoming more and more exclusive. A "rich man's stock" you know is one with a price so high that little men cannot afford to speculate in it.

KRESGE stock, for instance, jumps $80 a share and Ford of Canada $19 a share in a matter of minutes. The stock market would rattle like a pin on a board.

the back teeth, financially speaking, of any little speculator.

THAT'S WHY the kind hearted rich men cut big shares up into many little shares, that the little man may "get it."

You observe that the highest price "rich man's" stock, Kresge, around $80 a share, represents good money down, he knows much power in little things.

DEAN ENGB, the eminently respectable clergyman at the head of St. Paul's Cathedral in London, favors birth control. He says: "LIMIT YOUR EDUCATION to not more than three children, from any one family."

HIS BELIEVERS parents will limit the number of children, if they have to educate all but three at their own expense. Good money down, he knows little about human nature. And he worries, because common people have most of the children, the birth rate being lowest among the educated classes.

WHAT WOULD the dean have said to Nancy Hanks, with her face, a lady unable to read or write, caring for her baby in a hut with a dirt floor any without windows?

He'd have said: "Leave child-bearing to the educated upper classes, my dear." But the big baby was Abraham Lincoln! You never can tell.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE talks less than the average, but says more. When it is proposed to tear up the Constitutional guarantee that the people shall be allowed to have and bear arms, the President looks up at his cold New England gray eye and wonders if it would really do any good to keep weapons away from decent people, entitled to have them, also whether you really could keep them away from the other kind of people.

GOOD MEN and women in Chicago plan to fight all with alacrity. They will sing Christmas carols this year, on a big scale, in hotel ballrooms, railroad stations, public squares everywhere. They hope it will soften the criminal heart.

EX-HUSBAND OF PASTOR ADMITS VISITING GIRL IN KIMONA

GAVE HIS ORDER OF SPOUSAL ADVICE CLAIMED 'ALONE'

Denies, However, Improperities With Girls and Wives of Congregation

Writing under a heavy fire of cross-examination by Attorney Marvin Taylor, representing the defendant in the $50,000 suit brought by Rev. John E. Lillback, former Quincy and Maynard pastor, against Eteenpain, a Finnish newspaper of Worcester, the clergyman today told of his relations with young women members of his congregation at Quincy between 1908 and 1914. The damage suit was heard in Federal Court before Judge Brewster.

The defendant was first questioned about Judith Engquist and Anna Laher, of Quincy, whom he admitted were members of his congregation. Lillback denied ever having taken either of the girls into separate rooms and praying with them alone. He said he had never made improper advances of any kind toward them.

WIVES' FINDER GUILTY.
Questioned about Josephine Salminen, proprietress of a lodging house at Springfield, Ct., he denied knowing the young lady.

Under the barrage of questions hurled at him at this point, Lillback admitted knowing the woman.

"Do you know Kaia Dittman who occupied a room in Mrs. Salminen's house?" Attorney Taylor shot at him.

Lillback admitted his acquaintance and admitted visiting the young lady frequently.

"Did you ever visit the young lady in her room about 9 o'clock in the morning when she was clad in a kimono?"

After a previous denial the pastor admitted that Mrs. Salminen had entered the room while he was in the girl's room, and he also admitted being seated in a chair, while she was on the bed.

The line of questioning later turned, to alleged misconduct with Mrs. Jacob Teravainen, wife of a ship yard worker of Quincy.

HUSBAND AWAKE.

Lillback admitted knowing the couple and said he was acquainted with Teravainen's house of employment. He acknowledged that he visited the Teravainens home frequently while the pastor was away, but denied any improper relations with the wife.

It was later revealed that a conference between Lillback, Teravainen and his wife, was held over the alleged misconduct. This was held in Teravainen's home, and during it Jalmar Sward and Jacko Julka did not attend. It was also testified that the alleged misconduct of the pastor was common gossip among Quincy Finns.

"Did you ever write a letter to Mrs. Teravainen concerning these rumors?" Taylor queried.

"I wrote Mrs. Teravainen a letter," Lillback admitted.

PUBLISHED LETTER.

At this point there was some discussion regarding the authenticity of the letter which was published by a Finnish paper of Pittsburgh. Lillback said that the letter published in this paper had been garbled by an editorial department.

The defense produced the article as evidence and at the time court was adjourned for lunch, the pastor was attempting to eliminate the garbled statements and identify his own. Judge Brewster ordered that this evidence was to be ready for presentation when court resumed.

The article in question appeared in the Pittsburgh paper over Lillback's signature.

Woman Thinks Man Rescued in the Mountains May Be Her Missing Husband

Palmer, Oct. 15.—Max Englehardt, Mount Washington caretaker, who was rescued after being lost for four days in the snow on the mountain, was tentatively identified today by a Bondsville woman as her husband, missing from home since last July.

Englehardt, found half dead and half alive in a cave near Crystal Cascade on Mount Washington, where he sheltered himself from the elements for four days and three nights, told his rescuers that he was alone in the world, his wife and two daughters having died of influenza some time ago in an influenza epidemic.

Reading of Englehardt's miraculous escape from the snow and gale in the winter wilderness of the Presidential Range, Mrs. Max Englehardt hastened to check up on the printed descriptions of the caretaker and found they tallied with the physical characteristics of her husband.

She told the police here that she believes Englehardt is her husband because his description tallies exactly with a missing finger.

She said her husband's family came from Campbellton, the same place of New Brunswick as was mentioned by Englehardt in his comrades in the White Mountains.

She was unable to identify positively a picture of her husband but declared she was sure Englehardt must be the man she has sought without success for the last three months.

Englehardt, fifty-two years old and trained in woodcraft, survived one of the worst blizzards experienced in the Presidential Range in twenty-five years.

Choir Boy, Pastor's Son, Sentenced as Thug

MINISTER AND MOTHER PLEAD IN VAIN TO GET LAD OFF

Not many months ago Wiedman Bartlett, minister's son, was an angel-faced choir boy in St. Paul's Cathedral.

And today he was sentenced to the Concord Reformatory for an indefinite period for highway robbery. Bartlett's father was a minister in Braintree. He is dead.

The Rev. Harry Wiedman of Braintree asked Judge Bishop of the Suffolk Superior Criminal Court to be lenient. He said the boy was essentially good but easily led.

Bartlett, also known as Theodore Williams, was arrested with Arthur J. French for putting on a holdup in the Sturdy River section of Fox Fenway.

Both boys are eighteen years old. Bartlett and French had pleaded guilty as charged. Bartlett's mother tried to work since the death of her husband. And she told the probation officer of Suffolk county that she felt she and her husband had been unable to give Wiedman an even break; that he often went home from school to a cold house and a scraped-up supper, because she was away at business.

Mrs. Clara L. Tibbetts of East Boston, who is to remarry her former husband, Fred W. Tibbetts of Allston, next week. They have been separated three years. "I haven't been happy since," says Mrs. Tibbetts. She expects her second matrimonial venture will prove more successful.

BYRD DENIES ARCTIC FLIGHT 'BUNGLED'

Washington, Oct. 15 (A.P.)—Back from the far north, Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd denied, before the President's air board today, that "haphazard" preparations were made in arrangements for his flying continent sent with the MacMillan Arctic Expedition.

Although not mentioning by name Colonel William Mitchell, he made clear that in his opinion the Navy Department was not guilty of "amateur bungling" of plans for the polar trip as charged by Mitchell.

NOT 'TROPICAL' PLANES.
"The planes," he said, "are undoubtedly the best for the work. They are the best amphibian planes in the world, and up there both wheels and a boat are most desirable."

Mitchell asserted the planes were designed for use in "the tropics and along the Asiatic Coast."

Commander Byrd asserted that with more time and a little better season, the centre of the unexplored region in the Polar Sea could be reached by airplane.

There is no part of the world that cannot be conquered by aircraft," he said. The idea of the trip was not to make a sensational, spectacular dash, but to do some exploring and to advance gradually toward the objective.

The witness gave a vivid description of the whirl of the airplanes over the jagged and frozen North country.

FLEW OVER 6,000 MILES.
"We flew over 6,000 miles up there," he said, "far enough for two planes to have gone twice to the Pole and back."

"Aviation conditions were far worse than we had anticipated. After our first flight over Ellersland Land, I told my men that I would never again order any of them to fly over that region."

GIRL ARRAIGNED IN ROBBERY OF MAN IN AUTO

Mrs. Margaret Kelly of No. 49 Lee street was before the District Court today charged with the robbery of $150 from Arthur R. Barry of No. 77 Hancock street, chain grocery store manager, in a holdup scene of Fresh Pond parkway.

Mystery surrounded the robbery and for weeks police officials searched the entire State for two girls who, with a man, accompanied Barry to the Parkway in an automobile after inviting him for a ride, and then robbed him.

Barry informed the authorities that he must have been drugged, inasmuch as he was unconscious for several hours after he had been relieved of his money.

He said that the last thing he remembered was that a girl's hand slipped into his pocket. Then he became unconscious, after a short struggle.

Mrs. Kelly pleaded not guilty in court today and her case was continued for one week.

Thief Cleans Out Cambridge Street Store

An epicurean thief entered the store of Kusanthy Rydel of No. 144 Cambridge street and left with a side of beef weighing fifty pounds, a ham, a quantity of other groceries—enough to make a full course dinner—and finished by taking a carton of cigarettes.

Police believe the thief used an automobile, as anyone going through the streets with so much plunder would be noticed. Investigation failed to reveal anyone who saw the miscreant.

Entrance was gained to the store by jimmyming the lock on the rear door.

The store was completely ransacked, the thief evidently thinking there was money in the store.

IDENTIFIES TWO AS AUTO THUGS

Salem, Oct. 15.—Thomas Zenk and Herbert Kennedy were identified today by A. J. Duggan of Lynn as two of the six men who held him up near the State Hospital grounds in Danvers last night and robbed him of $225.

Arraigned in District Court charged with robbery while armed, they were held in $5,000 each for further hearing on October 20.

COUPLE PARTED THREE YEARS TO RE-WED

The contention that first love is best has at least two firm supporters in Boston, who will demonstrate their belief next week by a remarriage after three years apart.

They are Fred W. Tibbetts, Allston restaurateur, and his former wife, Mrs. Clara L. Tibbetts, of No. 20 Haver street, East Boston.

The couple were first married in 1918, and, for a time, life was as blissful as in a honeymoon with newly weds.

Came 1922 and flying, when, according to the poet, the young man's fancy turned to thoughts of love. This proved to be a quandary in the case of Tibbetts, whose fancy turned to freedom, and he instituted divorce proceedings which eventually severed the marital tie.

For three years they continued to lead their lives apart, but a woman with all the matchmaking proclivities of her sex, undertook to bring them together.

Last April she was successful: Fred and Clara met, and discovered the love they thought dead was only slumbering.

Through the summer months they met frequently, and last week Fred visited City Hall and obtained another marriage license.

The second wedding will take place next week. This time the couple are resolved nothing will separate them.

COURT DEAF TO MERCY PLEA FOR 2 IN BURGLARY

Municipal and district court justices continue to maintain the "bump-down" attitude toward burglars and holdup men. Counsel for Philip Leary and Charles West of Commonwealth avenue tried to induce Judge Connelley in Brighton court to put his clients on probation or give them suspended sentences after they were found guilty of breaking and entering the apartment of Natalie Paulson in Ashford court, Allston. Judge Connelley was adamant and imposed sentences of six months in the House of Correction. The youths pleaded and were held in $500 each.

BOY KILLED BY AUTO IN FRONT OF HOME

Randolph, Me., Oct. 15.—Richard A. Quillette, 7, was fatally injured when he jumped out of an automobile and ran directly in front of another car driven the opposite direction, by Maurice St. Pierre, a shoe worker.

SAVE-A-LIFE CAMPAIGN IS COMPLETED BY MAYOR CURLEY

DECLARES GREAT PUBLIC BENEFIT WILL BE DERIVED FROM AMERICAN'S AWARDS

Save-a-Life!
Mayor Curley's plan was added to the swelling chorus in favor of the Boston Evening American's latest campaign that for careful, rational driving of motor vehicles and safety on the highways.

This campaign is in receipt of the following letter from the mayor:

"Editor Boston Evening American:
"The Boston Evening American can run by its 'Save-a-Life' campaign after the average driver of a motor car to a sense of responsibility and lead him to manage his machine so that the ordinary foot passenger, man, woman and child, will be safe from collision and death, the campaign is worthy the applause of every man in the community."

"If the Boston Evening American can make men look and think, the evil will be cured, the brutal fellow, the incurable wrongdoer—and these are in the minority—must be made to feel the heavy hand of the law; the careless be made careful and the indifferent given concern."

"It seems to be all a matter of waking up the public and educating them, especially the motorist, driving public, the Boston Evening American is doing that, and I am assured public opinion will do the rest. Because, when moral suasion and sane opinion fail to do a serious evil, stern measures will."

(Signed) "JAMES M. CURLEY."
Investigators for this newspaper continue their observations, and continue to discover wonderful careless ones on the broad highway.

Two drivers, Boston Evening American investigators found, are careful about giving arm signals well in advance of their left turns while some make the going hazardous by neglecting to give the required signal.

On Main street, Brookline, regarding a wet pavement, the driver of a car with dealer's license plates came out of a gasoline station driveway just as another car approached the spot. Both cars slid on the pavement and collided, their brakes failing to bite quickly enough with the road wet as it was.

A boy, wanted in the center of the roadway trying to get across while his car was gliding by, until the driver decided it was better to dash to safety and did so, fairly dragging the child from the curb, looking forward but not back, and all but crashed into a horse and wagon that was passing. Free of this entanglement, she started again, this time looking back but not forward, and around the legs of a pedestrian who made a wild leap to the side walk.

It is because of the appalling toll taken resulting from irrational driving, such as observed by the investigators, that the Boston Evening American has inaugurated the "Save-a-Life" campaign.

A $20 gold piece is awarded to each of ten motorists who are found by the Boston Evening American investigators in receipt of a gasoline station driveway just as another car approached the spot. Both cars slid on the pavement and collided, their brakes failing to bite quickly enough with the road wet as it was.

HELICOPTER AGAIN MAKES SUCCESSFUL 10-MILE HOPE
Pembroke, Mass., Oct. 15 (A.P.)—Hundreds of spectators watched the second successful hop of the helicopter invented by Don Juan De La Cerva, which made its successful initial flight on Monday. Captain Courtney took the machine over LaPlata Plain and covered about ten miles.

From the altitude the helicopter rose to an altitude of more than 1,000 feet, then swooped to within 100 feet of the crowd, and again shot vertically into the air. It was maneuvered easily and with ease by the man overboard propeller work.

THUGS CAPTURE $15,000 LOAD OF TOBACCO

Driver Is Taken From Truck and Left on Road Miles
From Holdup Scene

Stamford, Ct., Oct. 15 (A.P.)—An automobile truck with tobacco goods valued at $15,000 being transported from New York to Bridgeport by the National Transportation Company was seized by three men early today after the driver had been forced from the seat and into an automobile driven by the highwaymen.

According to the driver, Francis Broadhurst of Bridgeport, he was driving along West Main street when stopped by three men in a touring car. He was ordered from the truck, then taken to White Plains, N. Y., and left on the road. From there he telephoned his office in Bridgeport and the Stamford police were notified.

UNITARIANS IN BIG MERGER

Cleveland, Oct. 15 (A.P.)—Merger of the General Conference of Unitarian Churches and the American Unitarian Association was effected at the biennial convention of the Unitarian Churches of the United States and Canada today.

Absorption of the conference by the association was authorized last May, when the association, celebrating its centennial in Boston, amended its constitution. The conference was formed in 1864 for fellowship purposes.

Reorganization of the denomination will facilitate its extension work.

Among resolutions ready for presentation today was one providing for the raising of a $2,500,000 Unitarian foundation, for extension of liberal religiousity in America. The resolution calls for the raising of $500,000 annually for five years.

Another provision for the establishment of a department of welfare to co-operate with similar organizations existing in other denominational bodies. Such a department would be headed by a social research and social expert, to keep ministers and churches advised of the latest developments of economic, political and international thought and developments which it feels demand the attention of the religious forces of America.

U. S. PLANS BIG DRIVE TO REDUCE ILLITERACY

Washington, Oct. 15 (A.P.)—A census of illiterates as part of a campaign to reduce illiteracy in the United States will be undertaken next year by the Bureau of Education of the Interior Department.

Cooperation has been pledged by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, the American Federation of Labor, the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the Good Cause and the American Legion.

In addition to the census, the campaign will encourage attendance at night schools, and obtaining better enforcement of school attendance laws.

OUSTED SOMERVILLE COP TO GET HEARING

A public hearing will be given Pa. troelman Leo J. Hurley, under suspension in Somerville on charges of intimidation and inefficiency, preferred by Chief of Police Charles A. Kendall, this evening at City Hall. Mayor Webster on October 2 found him guilty and recommended his removal. Through his counsel, Walter M. Smith, Hurley asked for a public hearing. He did not respond to a burglar call and Lieutenant Harmon, in charge of the station, found him in bed. Judge M. E. Sturtevant then found probable cause and held him for trial.

Belgians Fight Duel

La Paz, Bolivia, Oct. 15 (A.P.)—A duel with pistols was fought here between the Minister of Foreign Affairs and the director of the newspaper La Verdad. Neither party was injured, although the fight was at 20 paces.

what music did to the walls of Jericho. A certain amount of "arrogant" singing, with "allegro" tempo, might persuade criminals to select a less musical residence than the other hand, it might cause strange, new sorts of crime. No harm in trying, since nothing else succeeds.

THIS COUNTRY, it is said, will not lend Europe money to be spent for military purposes. The kind old lady, handing a penny to a tramp, says, "How dare you ask for drink?" How can she know? When our money goes to Europe, they do as they please with it.

real estate matters and business ventures we believe that he would do very well, especially in 1925.
At this time, I note that the Moon, by her secondary motion, is working her way through his House of business, and in February, 1926, makes General John H. Dunn is a child of fair Luna and Jupiter and Mercury are his friends, but Saturnine Saturn is his black beast, politically speaking.

Mrs. Catherine Howard Thompson, of No. 139 Audubon road, who claims to her credit the prediction during the Wilson administration that when the Republicans came into power Senator Harding would be elected President, has drawn up the horoscopes of the candidates in Boston's mayoralty fight.
These horoscopes will be printed from day to day in the Boston Evening American, and a comparison given by Mrs. Thompson, who, among other successful prophecies, predicted in 1914 the ultimate entry of the United States into the World War.
The horoscope printed today is that of General John H. Dunn.

GENERAL JOHN H. DUNN,
Born Sunday, August 1st, 1860.
S. A. M., Boston, Mass.

This gentleman was born with fixed signs on the four angles of his nativity, so he is quite set in his ways, with no great rises and no great falls, but more of a steady upward progress.

At six o'clock in the morning, the sun was rising in Leo, its proper sign, and this makes him kind-hearted, generous, sympathetic, magnetic and intuitive; he dislikes argument and cannot easily be talked out of a thing.

He generally thinks his ideas the correct ones; is active, aspiring, energetic and at times subject to ex-tremes. He enjoys the company of the opposite sex, takes strong interest in his home and family, and will not easily yield to advice or disapproval. He enjoys the company of the opposite sex, takes strong interest in his home and family, and will not easily yield to advice or disapproval.

He can easily admit himself to time, place and circumstance, is somewhat of a leader in his way, has good executive ability, and by reason of his magnetic temperament, can easily draw people to him.

His disposition is warm and affectionate, and he enjoys the approbation of those about him.
General Dunn was born with the Moon exalted in Taurus, in conjunction with Jupiter the Greater Fortune, placed in his House of honor, credit and business—a very powerful position—if it were not for the fact that Jupiter is now going through a heavy affliction by Herchel and Neptune, both very evil planets. In December 1915, Jupiter afflicts Mercury although Jupiter is now making a splendid aspect to his own place, and to the Moon, to his House of I believe he might otherwise have honor.

stood a splendid chance of getting elected, but no such good fortune is possible at the present time, because in November 1915, Saturn makes a direct opposition to the Moon and to Jupiter, and there is some question about his standing, or his methods, or else he does not feel well.

If he would turn his attention to an opposition to Saturn in the 10th House, ruling his home and real estate matters, and he is not very well, or is somewhat disturbed about business.

Herchel is also passing through the 11th House, which is the House of wealth, wills and legacies, and all through November and December, 1925, makes a splendid aspect to his

Everything as Represented

Keenness of competition sometimes leads some stores to make extravagant statements concerning both the goods and prices they offer.
This is something Ferdinand's never has done and never will do.
Whenever you see advertised in a Ferdinand and you can buy in the Ferdinand store exactly as advertised—price and all.
That is one of the reasons why Ferdinand's has had such a solid reputation for over half a century.

Quality at a Price

There is no particular feature to selling quality furniture at "gold bond prices"—nor is it particularly a feat to sell flimsy furniture at low prices. The test of a furniture store is to sell quality goods at prices within the reach of all—a test which Ferdinand's has stood with conspicuous success for 57 years.

YOUNG WIFE IS HERE TO JOIN INDIANS

Mrs. R. B. Manikan Will Be Come Co-ed at Barnard
In New York

More than a year ago R. B. Manikan, a high caste Indian, left Madras for New York to study at Columbia University. In Madras he left his young wife. They corresponded regularly and she, too, came to the United States seeking that Western education. She is going to Barnard and thus becomes a co-ed with her husband.

Mrs. Manikan was one of several Indians who arrived in the winter City of Lahore at East Boston, Dr. Meena Nantaya, an attractive East Indian girl in native costume, was her companion on the trip. For several years Dr. Nantaya has been attached to the Vassar hospital at Madras. She will take advanced courses in medicine and surgery here.

Rev. R. B. Modak, moderator of the First United Church of North India, a native Indian, came wearing the turban and costume of the high caste Indian. During the World War he served as recruiting officer for the British forces in his district. He will visit at different places in the United States and include in further study.

The Misses Edith Neasey, of Lancaster, Pa., and Minnie Lehmer, of Harrisburg, Pa., missionaries of the American Church of God, were other passengers. They have been seven years at their stations and are returning on eighteen month furloughs.

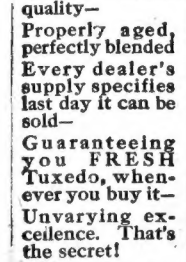

A valuable cargo was in the holds of the City of Lahore. She had previously called at Halifax, where she delivered 5,000 packages of tea and other merchandise for distribution in Canada. This comprises a considerable part of her cargo for Boston.

SHE'S A FLAPPER OF THE FROZEN NORTH

The "Land of the Midnight Sun" can boast of one flapper. She is Neewa and has a lipstick, symbol of adolescent feminine modernity.

LIPSTICK GIFT MAKE ESKIMO A FLAPPER

Ever once partook of an innocent looking apple, the story goes, and see what happened!

And now the Eskimo Flapper is threatened, for an Eskimo belle, sorely tempted by the first and only lipstick ever seen in the frozen north, has nuzzled her bilious unestablished lip with luscious red and "kissed" herself. The Eskimo Flapper has never before had a lipstick and she will probably survive the cosmetic "kiss."

The lipstick was a present to the first Eskimo lady of her kind from a Washington belle who has been a constant visitor to the Arctic.

Neewa, Eskimo beauty of Canada, way up north where the sun is found in circles overhead in a land of ice and snow, was the first Eskimo girl to ever use a lipstick. She wanted to get it, McLeod said, and she probably wouldn't have left it had, because they are a "kiss" lot.

"If an Eskimo belle lives five years, it will be at least 45 years," said Lieutenant Commander E. P. McDonald, Jr. "An Eskimo is never old and always has the face of a child. It is never he is kissed by accident or falls into the water." continued the lieutenant-commander, "for there is yet to be found an Eskimo who can swim."

"There has long been a discussion as to what white man made the first flight in an airplane, but we know who was the first Eskimo, for we took him up. He didn't want to go, but did it to please me."

Old Pots like new BRILLO cleans quick!

Kitchenware—aluminum—granite, enamel or iron. Woodwork—China and glass. Tiled walls and floors. Linoleum. Sinks and tubs. Stoves. Cutlery. Metal fixtures.

All in less time, with less work, at less cost. Every use suggests another. No rags—no acid—no powder—no fuss!

Sparkling Eyes and Clear Glowing Skin Come Back After INDICAN Test Showed Cause of Pimples, Blackheads, Pale Skin, and Sleepy, Dull Eyes

It is surprising how many people who have tried the Indican Test have found the cause of their skin troubles. The Indican Test is a simple, scientific method of determining the cause of skin troubles. It is a test that is used by the world's leading dermatologists. It is a test that is used by the world's leading dermatologists. It is a test that is used by the world's leading dermatologists.

FILM MEN PLAN TAX FIGHT IN U. S. COURT

Connecticut Law Again Held Constitutional and Rehearing Denied

New Haven, Oct. 15 (A.P.)—The final decree confirming the decision of the Federal Constitutional Court, which held that the taxation of film interests that the State film taxing law was unconstitutional, that the law was constitutional, was held by the clerk of the federal court here today.

The decree denies the film interests a rehearing of their contentions. The judges were Henry Wade Rogers, Henry W. Goldhamer and Thomas D. Thacher, who signed the decree in a circuit court of appeals to which the appeal was taken from the decision of the constitutional court.

The judges order the Fox Film Corporation and the American Feature Films Corporation to pay the costs of the action.

It is understood that counsel for the appellants will carry the contention to the United States Supreme Court.

At Prices That Prove the Eight Joyce Stores' Superiority

You can't get a gallon from a two-quart measure—and you can't get such values as these from smaller operators. SIZE MEANS SAVINGS—Savings in buying, selling and operating expenses! That's why we say that, since our business is positively unequalled in the NUMBER OF STORES WE OPERATE, THE VOLUME OF OUR SALES, THE SIZE OF OUR CO-OPERATIVE PURCHASES, AND IN FINANCIAL RESOURCES—our values are correspondingly greater. YOU REALIZE THE DIFFERENCE IN GENUINE SAVINGS. And our CHARGE ACCOUNT privilege enables you to buy at any time and pay later as you earn.

Fliers' Good Will Agent Can't Get His Expenses

Washington, Oct. 15 (A.P.).—Lieutenant Leslie Schuler, army service officer, acted as ad- vance man for the world flight. Schuler spent about $400 for food, drink and other social events, to pave the way pleasantly in advance of the globe-girdling fliers. He guests ranged from all- day representatives to British navy dignitaries.

He submitted his expense ac- count on the orthodox War De- partment form, but Comptroller Richard Thompson disapproved the claim, holding that it had no legal basis.

$100 Reward for a box worth 60¢!

It was 4,000 miles from home, his land where could find everything and all his Stuart's tablets in a trunk they couldn't find. I'll give almost anything to get it, he told me, "for I can eat anything in the world when I take a tablet of Stuart's. And otherwise, I have to pamper my stomach like a baby!"

Aliments like dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach—are not caused by what you eat. Give your digestive system a little scientific help. And eat what you like! Yes, even doughnuts, baked beans, dishes cooked with onions. Stuart's dyspepsia tablets give your stomach the relief it needs—and that's all there is to it! Eat your fill, and don't fear acidity, gas, or distress in any form!

Men and women of every age, in all walks of life, have sworn by Stuart's for more than thirty years.

Your First Box FREE! Any drugist in the land has Stuart's dyspepsia tablets. A big box is only 60¢—they are less than a penny apiece. So why suffer? Get a 25c metal box of Stuart's for the pocket—and keep it filled.

One box free if you write the F. A. Stuart Company, Dept. B, Marshall, Mich.

BISHOPS MOVE FOR DIVORCE LAW REVISION

Consideration of Episcopal Canons Follows Election of Primate

New Orleans, Oct. 15 (A.P.).—Federal Judge Burns today dismissed, on the ground that the court was without jurisdiction, the proceedings filed by the Right Rev. William Montgomery Brown of Galveston, O., to annul the Episcopal church from deposing him as Bishop of Arkansas.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 15 (A.P.).—The fourth triennial conference of the Episcopal church in the United States resumed sessions here today, after having completed the most important business before it—the election of its first primate, the Most Rev. John Gardner Murray, who succeeds the present presiding bishop, the Most Rev. Ethebert Talbot, Bishop of Bethlehem.

Efforts to revise the church laws affecting remarriage of divorced persons was determined opposition to the conference, but were expected to be given further consideration, probably today or tomorrow.

Bishop Murray, who is 48 years of age, was suggested in business for 12 years before entering the ministry at the age of 24. He was born in Louisiana, La.

At the death of his father he was forced to abandon his plans for the ministry and became a bookkeeper in 1884.

In 1912, he had advanced to the vice presidency of his company and was also a banker and broker at St. Louis. He was made a deacon in 1914, and a priest a year later.

He was rector of the Church of the Advent, Birmingham, Ala., from 1914 and 1915 when he became rector of the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, Baltimore, Md., the largest Episcopal church south of Philadelphia.

Shortly after going to Baltimore he was elected bishop of Mississippi to succeed Bishop Hugh Miller Thompson. He declined, as he did when he was elected bishop to succeed Bishop Thomas Dudley.

He was elected bishop successor of Maryland in 1919 and succeeded Bishop Pare as bishop of Maryland in 1921.

Why?

Why do they call it curfew?

When the curfew rings and all Boston children must hasten home and get in their beds, then some of the kids lie awake and ask themselves—Why?

Why do they call it the curfew, anyway?

The olden times were an age of discontent. Many things considered essential today were unknown among them—clothes and watches. Only wealthy organizations or municipalities were able to afford the luxury of a timekeeping device. The great mass of people learned the hour from ringing of a bell or blowing of a horn.

It was then that the curfew bell came into usage. The middle ages were filled with bandits and lawless men. Cities were compelled by law to shut their doors, to put out their fires and retire to bed at the stroke of the curfew bell.

The bell used in France for this purpose was called the "Couvre feu" bell, corrupted into curfew bell. The word came from the French word for "cover the fire" in the evening—as pictured in the above illustration—and meant "cover fire" or "fire cover". It smothered the flames so that there would be no danger of fire during the night.

From such a beginning the curfew belling practice spread all over the Continent, and eventually came to the United States, where its meaning is literal rather than actual, although the curfew bell is actually rung in small villages.

Curfew shall not ring tonight and you've sent in your "Why?" to the Way Editor, Boston Evening American.

At the sale prices which J. J. Fox is advertising you can afford to buy without a Fur Coat this winter. Thru the Fox branches in many cities in the U. S. A. a great volume of Fur Coats are sold. This explains why Fox can sell at such amazingly low prices. It is easy to understand how he saves from 33 1/3 to 50% by having one big factory in New York manufacturing and designing Fur Garments for many years. Fox has undoubtedly done a great deal in making Fur Coats popular at a low price.

IRSHIP FREES, THEN HOOKS ON LYING PLANE

Irrevelous Feats Performed by a British Aviator in New Monoplane Tests

Alham, Eng., Oct. 15 (A.P.).—An aviator in releasing a monoplane in an attempt while in flight was successfully carried out today when a monoplane suspended from a crane beneath the hull, hoisted by Lieutenant R. La Hage, chief test pilot, the monoplane released at an altitude of 3,000 feet and made a successful landing.

After cruising about for a half hour, Lieutenant La Hage attached the plane again to the dirigible. He was then released and returned to the dirigible, while the R-23 continued its cruise and later returned to her mooring mast.

FILM STARS TO SHINE TOMORROW

Hessie Love, in oval above, will be another Paramount star at the pre-opening.

here for the occasion will include Adele Zuker, Jesse Lasky, Eugene Lasky, R. H. Kent, Harold B. Frank, R. A. Kohn, Ralph Kohn, H. L. Salway, Geo. W. Weeks, Robert Kane, 1281 Shuler, and Herman Weber, who will represent the Famous Players-Lasky executive department.

Joe Danenberg of the "Film Daily" and Samuel Katz, of the Tribune and Katz Theatre chain, will be present.

In the nature of a get-together, it will be the brilliant pre-opening. It will be an assemblage of the most prominent stars who will later be seen on the screen of the huge playhouse. The men whose organizations are backing the enterprise, and the men who built the structure, and who are growing up with it from its inception, will be present.

Pay Lamphier, the "Miss America" chosen at Atlantic City, will be another arrival from Boston to see the new Paramount player, and is engaged in work for her first photo-play.

The Metropolitan will be officially opened to the first picture play, and footlight novelties Friday evening before the most brilliant of stars that has ever assembled in a New England picture theatre. Saturday, the public will see a picture show, a musical, variety, and the combination of films.

SECURITY PACT AGREED UPON AT LOCARNO

German Cabinet Authorizes Delegates to Sign Treaty Insuring Peace in Europe

Locarno, Switzerland, Oct. 15 (N.B.)—The security pact conference today reached an agreement upon a western security pact. Admission treaties between Germany and the countries on the western and eastern borders were left open, however. The draft pact provides for an agreement between Germany, France, Belgium, Great Britain and Italy for the security of the Rhine. German and Belgian-German frontiers. The pact is a watershed providing that the frontiers of the nations concerned shall remain as fixed, that each nation pledges not to make war without consulting its dispute to arbitration, and provides that the rights of the nations under the Versailles treaty shall not be prejudiced by the pact.

Reyn Oct 15—After practically an all night discussion and with the approval of President Von Hindenburg, the German cabinet authorized Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann to sign the security pact for a new foundation for peace in Europe as worked out at Locarno.

With this decision the success of the Locarno conference is assured. The results place it right behind the Versailles treaty in its importance to world peace.

Following a week's deadlock the issue cleared so rapidly that with the completion of the conference it is believed here to other conferences will be necessary.

Except for minor details, the method of Germany's entry into the League of Nations, the Rhine as security pact and the arbitration treaties between Germany, France and Belgium are nearly completed. The long battle over German neutrality in the event of a league war and the French guaranty of eastern boundary pacts is settled with a common promise acceptable to Germany, so the armistice treaties with Poland and Czechoslovakia are not expected to cause many difficulties. The battle now centers on those modifications of the Versailles system for the sake of which Germany made the offer of a security pact in the first place, and these modifications the Cabinet believes are necessary to get the Reichstag to approve the pact.

The concessions which Germany demands include the evacuation of Cologne, the modification by shortening of the east of the League of Nations. The Nationalists also demand insurance of world disarmament in line with the stand of President Coolidge.

interference with German industries and freedom for air traffic. Unless these demands are agreed to the Nationalists threaten to go over to the opposition, which might mean the end of the Luther Cabinet. The Nationalists also demand insurance of world disarmament in line with the stand of President Coolidge.

SECTION

Rosemary hated all this mystery, but she tried to be flippant to Peter. "So you won't tell me?" he hissed at her, and his voice sounded curiously harsh.

PETER BLAKENEY, a carefree young man, is in love with Rosemary Fawcett, but he forgets to propose, and Jasper Tarkington wins her. Rosemary, a writer, is induced to go to Transylvania and arrange a series of articles intended to clear the air of much international unpleasantness. Instantly she finds herself in the midst of a group of plotters. Even her best friends are arrested as spies, and though her husband is a great help, he always seems to fail in his efforts. So Rosemary decides to watch and wait.

CHAPTER XVI

WALKING across the lawn toward the chateau half an hour later, Rosemary found herself once more laughing at her own suspicions of Peter. Peter! Heavens above what turn were her suspicions taking?

Did she really believe for one moment that Peter was intriguing with these crafty Rumanians for the undoing or the persecution of his own kind and kin? The very thought was preposterous. The suggestion untenable. Whatever Jasper might think, whatever he might fear, she, Rosemary, was nothing but a traitor if she allowed herself for one moment to harbor such thoughts of Peter.

He was changed, certainly he was changed. But between that and Jasper's suspicions—

"Hallo, Rosemary!"

Peter's voice brought Rosemary back to reality. She had wandered up the veranda steps, hardly conscious of where she was. Thank Heaven, after her musings she was able to look Peter squarely in the face. With a sigh she sank into the chair that Peter pulled forward for her.

"I suppose," he said abruptly, "that they have been telling you about the nonsense that is going on in their silly heads."

Rosemary made no reply. Peter's words had somehow acted like a douche of cold water upon her sense of rest and well being. It was true then! Though Elia and Anna had told him nothing, he knew. How could he know? And how she feared it! Oh, how Rosemary hated that promise which she had made to Jasper, and which prevented her from this moment from giving a straight talk with Peter.

"So you won't tell me?" he reiterated, and his voice sounded curiously harsh. He spoke though his teeth, with that hateful clatter in the long holder held between the corners of his lips. Rosemary tried to be flippant.

"Dear me," she exclaimed, with a little broken laugh, "are you trying to play the role of the heavy father, Peter, or of the silent strong man?"

Not Just Yet.

It was very easy to make Peter laugh. He was laughing now. "Don't play the fool, Rosemary," he said in his silken way. "Tell me what Anna Elia has been saying to you out here."

"That you silly boy," she said, "there's nothing to tell."

"Back come the word on Peter's face."

"So," he said curiously, "I suppose that you and Anna Elia and Anna have been discussing tracks for the past hour and a half."

"No, dear," she replied coolly,

Dial Bests Telephone Company Even if Public Can't

TAKE FREE: IT WON'T COST YOU A CENT

Machine's One Big Defect: Guards Secret 10 Years, But Millions

A secret of the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company was exposed in keeping away from the public for more than ten years was revealed today.

A defect in the machine switching or dial phone system of the company makes it possible for a subscriber using the type of service to "talk his head off" for any length of time without paying for overtime.

ITS ONE BIG DEFECT.

Officials of the company admitted they were unable to check calls made from dial phones. During the system was a great expense and a fallacy, they said, and every effort was being made to perfect the system to make possible the timing of calls.

The private workings of machine switching is perfect except that it does not register the time enabled in completing a call. It was as simple as that.

The dial system is somewhat new in its metropolitan area, but New England and Bell have had it for more than ten years.

PLANS NEW TESTS.

Experts pointed out that the company lost thousands of dollars in revenue by its failure to charge for overtime calls.

Experts said a good portion of the recent increase in rates of $2,000,000 that the company received from the Public Utilities Commission would be used to experiment with the machine switching system at the expense of subscribers.

N.Y. POLICEMAN, SHOT BY BURGLAR, DYING

New York, Oct. 14.—Shot down by a burglar he trapped outside a tailor shop in Brooklyn, Policeman Frank White, 41, lies mortally wounded today in a hospital. White was told by a citizen a man was acting suspiciously in an alley. The policeman plunged fearlessly into the darkness.

The robber retreated and finding the alley was "blind" opened fire. White dropped unconscious with a bullet in his brain and jaw. The burglar escaped.

CHEAT DEATH ON SINKING SHIP IN GALE

For three days members of the crew of the schooner Evelyn hung in the rigging as terrific seas washed over board and the little boat was tossed about as though she were a cork. Now they are safe in port. Left to right, they are: Harry Frothingham, George Peck, George Smith, Captain Jasper, James Pettigrew and Wyl. Fullerton.

A harrowing tale of a crew helplessly on a wild sea in a disabled and waterlogged craft was told today by the captain and more of the three-masted schooner Evelyn, which was towed into New Haven Harbor by the tugboat "Hawkeye."

With Capt. John Peterson, master, and a crew of seven, the schooner was on its way to New Haven when it was caught in a gale.

The water broke over the deck and the schooner was tossed about as though she were a cork. The crew was helplessly on a wild sea in a disabled and waterlogged craft.

SCIENTIST VICTIM OF POISON GAS

Prof. Leffroy Killed by Fumes Inhibit White Perfuming Insect Estimation

London, Oct. 15.—An insecticide expert, Professor Leffroy, was killed today by the fumes of a gas which he was experimenting at the laboratory of the Imperial College of Science and Technology at South Kensington in his constant battle against insect pests.

The Frankensteinian monster was a myth, a figment of the imagination of Mrs. Shelley, wife of the poet, described in a nightmare tale she wrote in 1818.

It was the laboratory creation of a young chemist named Frankenstein, into which he infused life and which killed his creator, his family and his devoted friends.

FOUND DYING ON FLOOR.

In the case of Professor Leffroy the monster which struck him down was an actuality, an insidious poison gas he had developed to destroy flies.

Absorbed in watching its effects on the insects, the scientist became oblivious to the fact that he himself was inhaling their fatal fumes.

He was accomplished in his deadly work and some time later Mrs. Leffroy found her husband lying senseless on the floor of his laboratory.

He had been too devoted to combat the insects, and he had neglected his own safety.

Professor Leffroy's services in combating the fly pest during the World War were rewarded with a grant of £1,000 from the War Office.

SAVE THE PARTY!

Boston Faces a Crisis!

Boston, an overwhelmingly Democratic city, is in grave danger of being handed over to Republican Boss Innes and his clique.

THIS IS THE ISSUE:

Shall the plot of the Republican machine to divide the Democratic vote fasten Republican rule on Boston PERMANENTLY????

REASON or RUIN?

Let's be reasonable. The real question is bigger than candidates. It is a question of saving BOSTON ITSELF from the grasp of this ruthless machine. We cannot delay longer. We must decide this question NOW.

The election of a Republican, with a paralyzed Democracy as a consequence, can hardly be averted unless the majority party unites upon ONE candidate.

The insulting Republican strategy of dividing and paralyzing the Democratic party MUST be frustrated.

With other candidates admittedly deadlocked, level-headed Democrats have drafted Hon. Joseph H. O'Neil to be a candidate. A distinguished citizen of impressive record—business man, banker and statesman—a man of eminent attainments and specialized training for the office—a life-long Democrat—a man without an enemy or an entangling alliance—O'Neil's entrance as a candidate has rallied the divided forces of Democracy, has brought order out of chaos, has shown the way to victory.

O'Neil Can Win!

We call upon every Democratic man and woman to release his candidate from any promise not to withdraw from the contest—because THE CRISIS DEMANDS IT.

This is the way to save the party.

HERE ANOTHER OF LETTERS IN AUTO TEST

Names of Fortunate Ones in Contest Not Yet Decided

By FREDERICK BUTCH ESSEX.

It would be a splendid thing if while we are waiting for the board of judges to name the three winners of the "Automobiles for Two Cents" competition, the chairman were in a position to ascertain the 25,000 participants by presenting first an orchestra, next a singer and third a magician, a ventriloquist or a monologist.

The pleasure being denied him, the writer is going to assume that all will be glad to read one more representative letter, this time the offering of a Bostonian. The writer of the following tribute resides in Taft street, Dorchester, which is as close as we shall identify him.

"WHY I LIKE THE BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN."

"This is one of the many thousands of letters you will receive on this subject, but don't you dare to 'ditch' it. LISTEN!

"I like the Boston Evening American because it is the most interesting to read. It is 'Above All' and 'now selling for two cents.'"

"There is a great difference between making statements and making impressions."

"Some newspapers lack the point of interest and many people merely glance at the headlines."

"Suppose a man you were talking to left in the middle of your talk."

"You would hardly think he was impressed, would you?"

"In my opinion, newspapers should be judged by the same standard."

"They should get the facts and interest and then hold the interest."

"That's exactly what the Boston Evening American accomplishes with every issue."

"For reaching the large body of ultimate consumers there is no medium even to rival the newspapers for advertising."

"In actual copies sold you buy more circulation at less cost in the Boston Evening American than in any other newspaper in New England."

"It is in a position to introduce advertisers to 150,000 friends in one day."

"The Boston Evening American is on friendly terms with all its subscribers because it has the news first and frequent, written and edited by the best men and women, ample capital and a most generous income can procure."

"IT CONTAINS TOO MUCH THAT IS LIVE AND VITAL FOR ANYONE IN NEW ENGLAND TO TRY TO GET ALONG WITHOUT IT."

As has been said before, in connection with other letters selected from amongst these thousands, the publication of the above letter at this time has absolutely no significance in relation to the award of the three automobiles.

It is an interesting letter. Was yours a better letter? Don't you wish these judges would hurry?

Rub It On At Bed-Time

For Deep Chest Colds

All colds should be treated with vapors, for vapors alone can carry the medication DIRECTLY to the air passages and lungs.

Vicks is a "vapor" treatment in saline form. For deep chest colds you first apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores, then massage briskly with Vicks for 5 minutes, spread on thickly and cover with a flannel cloth.

Vicks not only penetrates like a poultice or plaster, but the ingredients, vaporized by the body heat, are inhaled all night long. This double action usually checks the most stubborn cold overnight.

CARLOAD OF RAMWAY CONSOLE RADIO SETS

88888

The Wonder Value of the Year

THREE gigantic manufacturing concerns with several millions of dollars capital have collaborated in the production of this the world's greatest radio value.

One manufacturer provides the cabinet of exquisite design and beauty. One radio parts manufacturer furnishes the precision instruments. Another supplies the loud speaker unit which is famous the world over. Each gives to the product the benefit of his vast manufacturing facilities, experience and engineering knowledge. The result is that Ramway Radio sets new and startling standards of radio values.

The Ramway Radio delivers broadcast programs with unrivalled fidelity. Its amazing selectivity, and tonal beauty is a revelation to radio listeners.

The cabinet is in the Italian Renaissance Period Style. The design, workmanship and materials are unsurpassed. The rich, beautiful panels are walnut veneer. The doors, too, are walnut veneer and are finished inside as well as outside. The ornamental scrolls on the panels are Burled Walnut, which adds beauty to the entire design.

The top has full piano hinge. The upper front panel has invisible hinges at the bottom and forms an arm rest when the set is in use.

Only the finest materials are used in the radio units. The dials, knobs, panel and sub-panel are genuine bakelite. All trims, including knob and dial escutcheons, are sterling silver plated oxidized. Truly, a magnificent piece of furniture in which is housed a super radio that will satisfy the most critical.

Specifications

Circuit: Tuned radio frequency, licensed under the U. S. Navy patents. Two stages of radio frequency, detector and two stages of audio frequency amplification.

Cabinet: 45 1/4-in. high, 32-in. wide and 47 1/4-in. deep.

Panel and Sub-panel: Genuine Bakelite.

Dials and Knobs: Genuine Bakelite with Sterling Silver Plated escutcheons.

Parts: All parts are balanced units.

Six Thousand Eight Hundred and Fifty Radio Fans made an average guess that this Set is worth 190.36

The first carload of big, handsome Ramway Console Radio Sets has arrived! Amazing Radio Value! When the first sample instrument was displayed two weeks ago, the price was judged by thousands to be double that which we have put upon it, and hundreds thought it should be three times that price and more!

Here are the actual figures—

The New Secretary of War Another Veteran

Dwight F. Davis, newest and youngest member of President Coolidge's Cabinet, appointed Secretary of War Tuesday in place of John W. Weeks, resigned, has these things in his favor:

He fought gallantly in the Great War, winning promotion from captain to lieutenant-colonel.

He was in the thick of two great battles, at St. Mihiel and in the Argonne, and was twice cited for heroism in action.

He is a graduate of Harvard and in his youth was a nationally known tennis player. He is the donor of the Davis Cup, the international tennis trophy.

By profession a lawyer, he is now in his forty-seventh year. As Assistant Secretary of War he has been actual head of the War Department since last Spring, when Mr. Weeks, who is a veteran of the Spanish War, fell ill.

Reputation Helps Buyer and Seller

The value of an advertised trademark is not only something that a manufacturer can capitalize, but it has its great worth to the consumer as well.

If an article is meritorious, advertising speeds its success. If it is of poor quality, or does not fill a public need, advertising will hasten its demise.

The value of an advertised trademark or institution is not only reflected in the financial balance sheet of the advertiser, but constitutes a PROTECTION to his customers or clientele.

How often have you been beguiled into buying a pair of stockings or set of books at your front door, only to discover later that the silk was mercerized cotton or the books a cheap reprint that could be bought at half the price at any reputable store?

The old law of trade was "caveat emptor"—let the buyer beware!

The advertising of trademarks and institutions has worked a nation-wide reform. Still some people have to be reminded of these facts, for the unscrupulous pedlar finds enough good-natured housekeepers to make his tours worth while as he moves from place to place working off his shoddy at the doorstep.

When you buy an advertised article you are buying from a concern that has faith in its own wares, that stakes its reputation on service, that will make good if any flaw or failure is found.

The advertiser CANNOT AFFORD not to make good. The nondescript at your door never expects to see you again.

The Shepherds Must Stay on the Job

YOUR Uncle Samuel has learned a good deal about wolves in sheep's clothing during the last ten years. Millions of Uncle Samuel's nephews and nieces have been to Europe on business and pleasure and with their eyes open.

Your Uncle Samuel is reacquiring the knowledge of Europe that George Washington had when he preached against foreign entanglements.

So when Europe trots out a lamb labelled "Security Pact" Uncle Samuel gazes into the background.

He sees the greed for power and wealth, trade rivalry, aggressive lust for land. And in Europe, where nations are crowded together, where national barriers of language and sentiment grew firm before railroads made the country as economic whole, those passions are not lamb-like. They are wolves.

MEDBURY SAYS--

By John P. Medbury

WINTER is coming on and people are beginning to take their hot water bags out of storage.

LAST week the drug stores sold ten thousand of these rubber furnaces.

COLD weather is a great hardship to poor people. One man who couldn't afford a hot water bag built a fire under his bed.

His wife went in two or three times during the night and turned him over so that he wouldn't get too well done.

THIS police arrested her the next morning for running a route-serie without a license.

BUT the husband wasn't even searched. He had some money to wear substance pajamas.

THIS only trouble was he wife had to call the fire department to get him out of bed.

ONE foreigner who had never heard of a hot water bag thought that you were supposed to burn coal in them.

Getting Girls for Mills To the Friend of the People: I have lately arrived from a few weeks ago, there are 1216 girls coming out of the mills in Lawrence, Mass. and in other parts of the country.

These girls are not very good watch dogs but they make wonderful stoves.

A LONG ISLAND woman gave a house party last week and supplied every guest with a Pez dispenser.

ONE guy got so cold during the night he had to run for more dogs.

THE butter couldn't find any more dogs so he brought him a cat.

And the cat and the dog in the same bed soon made it hot for him.

SOME people like the cold but some people like the heat of a gun.

HE went in to bed and shot the gun the minute they came in the door.

Registration of Women To the Friend of the People: I noticed in your paper, a reference to the registration of women in regard to registration.

If women were treated with more civility at City Hall, they would have more consideration of this duty.

They are obliged to stand and wait. Men get around the desks to swap funny stories. There is no opportunity for this duty, except at luncheon time, are obliged to stand at least a half hour waiting and then often have to give it up.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN UP TO DATE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A NEW edition of Uncle Tom has been prepared for English theatre-goers.

Uncle Tom shoots the villainous Legree and comes in at the end of the show bearing a big wedding cake for the marriage of Lucy Rivers. Eliza with her hounds and ice-cream scene has been eliminated.

A comedy character by the name of Jim Crow has been introduced and we are treated to the spectacle of Uncle Tom himself doing the Charleston across the stage to the tune of "Them Cotton Pickin' Blues."

About the only pathetic portion of the play left is the death of Little Eva, who dies and disappears at the end of a rope, as she has always done.

This illustrates the influence of modern ideas upon a classic story.

In these days we insist upon a happy ending and the elimination of tragedy.

But we forget that children love scenes of blood. They like to have people's heads chopped off and nothing short of plenty of gore seems to satisfy the infantile mind. It is a curious fact, but a fact none the less, that our sweet little children love to see blood. They enjoy it when the wolf in "Little Red Riding Hood" springs up and devours the heroine. Probably the new version will change the wolf into a lamb and the heroine will sit down at the end to a dish of lamb chops.

Primitive stories and poems, as one can see by reading Percy's "Reliques," specialise in death and calamity. Just how far they will be improved by the substituting of Pollyanna endings is a question.

"I am one of the many thousands of readers keenly interested in the why and wherefore of this planet, and I have the honor to know that the main factors, and their relative magnitude, that contribute toward the wide difference of annual mean temperature between a point on the equator and a point near either pole."

—W. H. RAY, N. J.

THIS is another case in which pictures speak louder than words, although words must supplement them. A simple diagram tells what the one main factor producing the difference between polar and equatorial temperature is.

Stated in words, it is the varying angle of incidence of the sun's rays falling upon the globe of the earth in different latitudes. At the equator the mean incidence (direction of stroke) of the rays is vertical, exactly at the poles it is horizontal.

The diagram shows this to be so.

The sun is supposed to be shining on the right-hand side of the globe, and to be situated in the sky straight above the equator, so that its centre is in line with the plane of the equator. This is its mean position through which it averages fairly to and fro as pendulum swings through the lowest point of its curve.

Much Larger The sun is so much larger than the earth that its rays fall parallel on the globe, from pole to pole. I recently showed in one of these articles that the sun's rays on the moon are parallel with those on the earth, because the sun's diameter is far greater, even than the distance between the earth and the moon.

Accordingly, in the diagram, we represent the parallel rays striking the earth in parallel lines.

For convenience we consider these rays in broad shafts impinging on the globe, parallel with the equator. Eight such shafts are shown, of equal width, between each pole and the equator. The hemisphere facing the sun is divided into three equal parts of 30 degrees each, one each side of the equator.

Take, first, the part between the equator and 30 degrees N. We find four of the shafts of sun rays falling upon it. Then, take the next part, or arc, of 30 degrees. It receives only three shafts. Finally, the last arc of 30 degrees, extending to the pole, receives only two shafts.

Thus at 15 degrees north (the centre of our first arc) the sun's altitude is 75 degrees and the relative amount of heat, per unit area, is 0.94; at 75 degrees the centre of our last, or polar, arc, the altitude is 15 degrees, and the amount of heat 0.259.

The influence of the thickness of atmosphere through which the sun's rays must pass is simply an adjunct to the effect of difference of latitude and of altitude. The same is true of the variations of relative length of day and night.

SELF-RESPECT SAFEGUARD AGAINST WORRIES

At times you wish you were more popular. You do things to win favor, but somehow you do not touch the right chord to gain the points you desire to win.

All the time you are dissatisfied with yourself because you are endeavoring to be what you are not.

There are two persons in the world whose respect I desire above all others, I said a man the other day. "The first is myself, the other my wife."

"When I respect myself because I am what I am, I am pretty sure of pleasing my wife."

This man has the true philosophy of life and because he follows it as he sees fit, he gets much out of living.

When you get to the point where you can respect yourself because you know that your thoughts, words and deeds are worthy of respect, you will not worry about what others think of you, nor will you regret what you are not popular with certain people.
